Look for answers on Monday.

Bob Jones 3NT Nine high-card points and a five-card suit are worth forcing to game. Bid 3NT.

Some may view this hand, with 9 HCP and a 5-card club suit, as worth a direct raise to 3NT. It's a close call, but given the lack of intermediates, I would choose to go low at matchpoints, starting with 2⁺/₂ (Stayman) and following up with 2NT as invitational to 3NT. At IMPS, I would bid 3NT.

Joe Muenks 2 Standard players bid 2NT, which is what I'll bid next playing 4 suit transfers. Though I have a 5-card suit and the J is with the A, I won't upgrade to 10 for a direct raise to 3NT since the J is in a doubleton and setting up the clubs might require losing the lead twice.

Bob Fisk 2 I play 4-suit transfers, so the only way that I can invite to 3NT is by going through Stayman. This hand is close to a game force, but not quite. T9x xx AJT ATxxx? Yup.

Steve Moese 3^{1} 3^{1} - or 2NT, whatever my Puppet/5-card Major Stayman convention is. Not have one? then 3NT. We might be missing out on a 5-3 M fit that plays better.

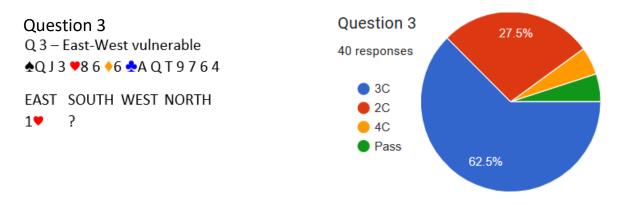

Bob Jones 1 When you can make your normal response at the one level, ignore the take out double. Bid 1

Steve Vogel $1 \ge 1$ would not let an opponent's takeout double distract from the normal response of $1 \ge 1$.

Joe Muenks 1 Epls, I can ignore that double like it never happened. Also, partner can get a support double in (3 card support) should West bid a minor and now we've found our 8 card major.

Bob Fisk 1 Not quite a redouble, since (1) we're vulnerable and they aren't and (2) I have a biddable Spade suit and tolerance for partner's Hearts. Picture partner with xx KQJTxx Jxx Ax, making three while the opponents are likely cold for 3 (no Spade ruff, since West has a doubleton Spade).

Steve Moese 1 Forcing one round. This hand is not quite worth a penalty redouble. A Pass is either too timid or blind.

Bob Jones $3\frac{4}{2}$ Some would bid $2\frac{4}{2}$, but why give your opponents the 2-level when you can take it away? Bid $3\frac{4}{2}$.

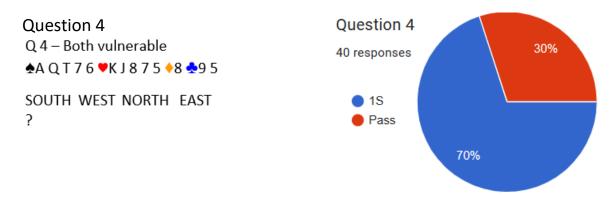

Steve Vogel Pass I view my hand as too strong (and too supportive of spades) for a 2^{nd} seat club preempt, but what about an immediate overcall of 2^{1} ? It's close, and while the modern approach may be to make that bid, if I did so, partner would surely count on me for a stronger hand. I may come to regret it, but I would pass

Joe Muenks 2 We'd much prefer to have 2 defensive tricks for our overcall, rather than 1.5, but we have too much to preempt and passing is not a reasonable option.

Bob Fisk 2 I'd bid 3 if it weren't for my QJx in Spades (i.e., I want to leave room for partner to show their Spade suit). Partner will think I have more in HCP, but my extra Club more than makes up for that. Picture partner with KTxxx xx Axx xxx, making 4 if the opponents forget to get their Club ruff.

Steve Moese 4 Exert pressure. Perhaps you've heard of the rule of 2-3-4-5. Subtract the number of losers (6) from 13 (7) then add 2 if vul and they are not, 3 if both vul, 4 if both not vul, and 5 if they are vul and we are not (This modification of the rule of 2-3-4 was proposed for Weak Jump Overcalls by Alan Truscott -who am I to argue). Some say the rule is too conservative. Our total is 12, but we stop at the 4-level(10). Maximum pressure at favorable vulnerability needn't be too reckless.

24, 34, 44, and 54 are all possible here. In Matchpoints I lean toward 4/54, in teams 24 is enough to start, intending to bid as high as 54 if necessary. We might have a spade game. Note that the first two hands have at least half of the HCP (12+9). That leaves 10 each on average for seats 3 and 4. Game either way is NOT certain. With a weaker hand we would bid more. We succeed in three ways: 44 makes, 44 goes down less than their partial or game, or we push them into an unmakeable game at the 4-level. 54 wins only when they have game or slam and fail to bid on.

Bob Jones 1 5-5 come alive! This hand is well worth an opening bid. Bid 1.

Steve Vogel 1 A good 10 HCP, 5-5 in the majors and decent intermediates. I would open this hand at any vulnerability.

Joe Muenks Pass This fails the rule of 20/22 (my guide) or the rule of 20 for those who play that even more aggressive form. With both majors locked up there's a very high chance you'll be into the bidding next time around.

Bob Fisk Pass I don't open this hand.

Steve Moese $1 \ge 2$ Rule of 22 says Cards in 2 longest suits plus HCP plus QTs \ge 22, open the bidding. We have 21.5 here and all HCP working. We love the Major suits!

Bob Jones X Start with a negative double. You might find a heart fit, plus your subsequent diamond bid will be non-forcing.

Steve Vogel X We are vulnerable, and I have a void in partner's suit. To me, this calls for caution, bit with a good diamond suit and 4 hearts, I feel there is more risk in passing. If partner rebids spades, I would then bid 3 which should describe my hand (and hopefully will not be too high).

Joe Muenks Pass Your bid is probably influenced by your style and system. If I negative double and bid diamonds next I'll deliver a game forcing hand. If I bid 2 now I'll deliver 10 HCP or almost that and spade tolerance. If I pass now and pull partner's reopening double to 3 , I can be weak with long diamonds -- bingo. If I pass now and bid 3 over partner's 2 , I'm weak without spades and with at least 7 diamonds -- bingo. If I pass now and bid 3 if west competes to 3 or bids 2 with 10+ support points, I'm weak with at least 7 diamonds -- bingo.

Bob Fisk X I'm a bit light on HCP for a 2-level Negative double, but I don't mind playing in 4D if the auction gets away from me. $1 \div (2 \div)$ -Double- $(3 \div)$; $3 \div (Pass)$ - $4 \div$.

Steve Moese X Majors first. If we bid diamonds later, partner will expect a longer suit. A 3♦ preempt in competition will lose a possible Heart fit. Some play fit jumps in competition so a preempt is unavailable.

Bob Jones 3 Partner is asking if you are minimum or maximum. You have a maximum, albeit flawed. Show the max by bidding 3.

Steve Vogel 3 My partners and I play Ogust in this auction, and I view my hand as a maximum with a good heart suit (2 out of the top 3 honors, or perhaps 3 out of the top 5).

Joe Muenks 3 Playing OGUST, I'll call this a good hand with a good suit, though perhaps the suit isn't great but "good" normally is 2 of the top 3 or 3 of the top 5, so I do have that. If you're playing feature, I'd bid 4♥ indicating a game hand with no feature, almost always with a singleton K or doubleton QJ. Note 2NT with my partners always shows a heart fit and is never a probing bid that can be short in hearts.

Bob Fisk 3▲ I play Modified Ogust with my regular partners at this vulnerability, so my 3♠ bid says that I have a good hand and a good suit (actually, that one is the same as regular Ogust).

Steve Moese 3♠ Ogust (Good hand, good suit). 3 ♦ - Feature, 3 ♦ - Singleton. Depends on our agreements.
